Sustainability

Lisa Wolf reviewed with the group the sustainability survey that was completed by the Coalition members. The survey had 15 respondents and the comments were positive. After careful review the following was noted;(a) there is a strong sense of connection among coalition members, (b) 100% agreed that it would be valuable to continue with the Coalition, (c) 100% of respondents indicated they would continue as an engaged member and (d) that there is great value in having a coalition leader. Funding ideas were discussed about sustaining a coalition leader, such as county funding and other grants. Additionally, the following ideas were generated to implement when moving forward with Coalition advocacy .

(1) Agencies that have received grant funding are to have a series of letters to the editor in local newspapers about individual program successes. Deb will try to organize a system to get that accomplished.

(2) Invite Adams and Taylor County sheriff's departments to present annually at a Coalition meeting to share about social issues. Deb will try to contact the departments and arrange a month for each department to present.

(3) Have Coalition members present at Adams and Taylor County Board of Supervisors to educate them about the progress made in behavioral health services in the area.

A draft of the sustainability plan was reviewed.
